How tech affects companies, no matter the industry

Whether you're in education, medicine, or engineering, how you work has been vastly affected by technological advancements, including new computers, data software, and various tools people did not have access to in decades past.

How people worked without tech

- Longer time is spent on individual tasks.
- Communication was more complex and tedious.
- Managing data was done manually and involved a ton of paperwork.

How people work with tech

- New tools enable work to be done much faster and easier.
- Communicating with colleagues, no matter where they are in the world, is incredibly fast and convenient.
- Everything is digital and easier to file, manipulate, or keep track of.

The ease of setting up a remote team

STEP 1

Is remote work here to stay?

How working from home might be the way to go

Now that it's become even more evident that finishing tasks and communicating with colleagues can all be quickly done even when every employee stays at home, plenty of companies see how remote work is the better path to take. It's cost-effective, easy, and safe, so it's no wonder why some businesses are starting to make remote work the norm.

While remote work has its perks, the ability to switch off after a day's work may be even more difficult as you find that the space you spend hours working in is the same space that used to only be for rest and relaxation.
